WellSpace Health has provided healthcare services to the Sacramento region since 1953, including primary care, urgent care, and dental care. When the non-profit organization was looking to upgrade to LED lights at multiple locations, they learned that the SMUD Complete Energy Solutions (CES) program could provide incentives to offset the cost and make the project more affordable.

During a walk-through at the J Street location, their CES energy advisor found they could also leverage SMUD incentives to replace the gas water heater with a highly efficient electric heat pump water heater at a very low cost. Director of Facilities Asker Hussain said the upgrades were a “win-win,” saving electricity and reducing the building’s energy costs. Asker also heard from employees who are happy with the new LED lights because they are more consistent and brighter than the old lights.

WellSpace Health is working with CES to install new lighting and smart thermostats at additional locations, and they plan to explore SMUD incentives for EV charging. With no limit on the number of locations that participate, CES enables property owners to replicate work and receive incentives across a portfolio of properties.

“

I’m very happy with all of the services and support I’m getting from the SMUD team. Doing a walk-through with them, they are trying to find out our needs, and they’re trying to offer whatever they can do for us.”
